FUTURE ARCTIC EXPEDITIONS.

Now that the wreck of the Jeannette has been fully confirmed the whole civilized world will anxiously await the publication of the particulars of the unfortunate expedition. It seems to be a settled fact that the unlucky vessel accomplished but very little in the direction of making further arctic discoveries, yet the record of her voyage will be eagerly sought after, while the hardships entailed by the shipwreck will furnish a tragic chapter in Arctic literature.

The many disastrous attempts to penetrate the Arctic regions have convinced most people that the Pole will never yield up her secrets, and the vast body of scientists have already concluded that further Arctic efforts, if prosecuted after the present plan, will yield no better results than those of the past.

In view of the repeated failures of vessels to reach the Pole, no matter how effectively they were equipped, more satisfactory plans for making Arctic explorations are now in order.

The colonization scheme is a project that has received the endorsement of a good many Arctic enthusiasts. This plan is reasonable inasmuch as it relieves an Arctic journey from many of the dangers and hardships that now render it almost impossible.

It is known that white men can endure the rigors of an Arctic trip if equipped properly. The colonization idea embraces the establishment of a series of settlements in the Northern regions, each settlement to be the basis for a new settlement farther north and nearer the pole. The plan is to found a permanent colony as far north as a ship can penetrate in a single season. This settlement will be the base of operations for an exploration party, fully equipped, who will work their way towards the pole, traveling as far as the season will permit, and then establishing a second colony. This colony will serve as the starting point for another expedition, which will in turn establish a third settlement. As the colonies are founded, communication will be established between them, and they will be kept in supplies to enable them to continue their explorations. Thus the pole will be gradually approached, until finally it will be fully conquered by man. The colonization plan will entail an enormous expense and it is doubtful whether the results will repay the outlays of money required, not to mention the labors and hardships of the brave men who undertake to carry out the details of the scheme. As all civilized governments, as well as the body of scientists of the world, are anxious to solve this mystery of all time it is more than likely that the money could be raised with but little effort. When the capital is secured willing souls will undertake the completion of the work.

The alarming lack of rain is creating the gravest fears throughout the whole Southern country. The oldest inhabitant has no recollections of a season that gave such good indications of being dry and disastrous as this. The situation is indeed becoming serious and all careful husbandmen are already making preparations to meet the worst that a dry season can bring forth.

WORK RESUMED ON THE SONORA ROAD.

A Novel Newspaper Decision—The Spread of Smallpox—Chief Arzate Executed—The Ladies Trial.

Associated Press Dispatches.]

TUCSON, Dec. 28.—The Star has received the following from Sonora; "Hermosillo, Dec. 23.—The railway officials have to-day received advice from Mexico, permitting them to proceed with the construction of the Sonora railway, on the Magdalena route. The decision is a victory for them, as it is their choice, and against which strong influences had been brought to bear in Mexico, to induce the Government to force the company to take another route. There is general rejoicing among the railroad people and the citizens generally at the resumption of operations, and that the case has been settled in favor of the Magdalena route, the general belief being that it is the best for the road and for the country. Work will be resumed with the utmost dispatch, and there is an abundance of material on hand the road is expected to reach Magdalena in about six months, and the frontier in about two or three months."

THE BAY'S BUDGET.

The Call-Chronicle Suit Settled—The Chosen Friends Frauds.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28.—The drizzling rain and fog which has prevailed for several days gave way to fair weather to-day, with light southerly wind.

The weather in the northern and central parts of the State also cleared up in part but is still cloudy, as is also the case in the lower coast counties.

A PAPER'S PRIVILEGE.

In the suit of Geo. K. Fitch of the Bulletin and Call vs. Charles De Young & Co. of the Chronicle for libel in charging that the columns of the Bulletin and Call had been sold to the Railroad Company, the demurrer of the defendants was sustained by Judge Allen of the Superior Court on the ground that a newspaper has a right to sell its columns, and it is no more libelous to charge a journalist with selling his newspaper than to accuse a merchant of selling his wares.

FIGHTING FRIENDS.

C. J. Kennedy, Supreme Treasurer of the order of Chosen Friends has received the following dispatch under date of December 26, from Indianapolis: "All Councils of Chosen Friends of California will be held liable for money paid other than to the Supreme Recorder and Treasurer. They have twelve thousand dollars more of death losses in California than money received from that jurisdiction. False reports have been circulated. Full explanations to councils by mail. By order of the Supreme Council."

NEW YORK NOTES.

Profits of the Star Route Rings Used in Hancock's Campaign.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—The excitement over the smallpox outbreak is very alarming. The disease itself increases daily in the city and vicinity.

FOR THE GOOD OF DEMOCRACY.

The Tribune's Washington special says: One of the most interesting political papers of the session, it is understood, will be on the star route swindles by a prominent Republican Representative, in which he will deny that any of the illegal profits were used for the Republican ticket in the last Presidential campaign, and will show that the contractors contributed $20,000 to defeat Randall, the delegate in Pennsylvania, besides sending $30,000 to Cincinnati, which was used in nominating Hancock, and additional sums for the latter's election.

VILLARD ALL RIGHT.

The attention of Henry Villard, President of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company, having been called to statements telegraphed from this city to the effect that during the last week's hurry in Wall street he became very much embarrassed pecuniarily and was obliged to sell at a loss large lines of stock in which he was interested, he has authorized a flat and absolute contradiction to the statements and pronounces them utterly unfounded.

THE ASSASSIN'S TRIAL.

Guiteau Worried by a Fellow Crank—Progress of the Case.

Associated Press Dispatches.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Guiteau came into the court room this morning looking paler than usual. He is not asleep well. A man was placed in a cell near him who was suffering from the most violent type of mania, caused by the excessive use of morphine, and during the whole night his shrieks rang through the jail. Guiteau was annoyed and asked what was the occasion for such a riot. The keeper replied: "We've got a crazy man on our hands to-night." "Well," said Guiteau, "why don't you shoot him and make him keep quiet? He is not respectable people being disturbed in this way by a miserable lunatic."

MCDONALD CROSS-EXAMINED.

During the trial to-day, Dr. McDonald was cross-examined by Mr. Scoville, mainly on temporary insanity. The witness was asked if, in his practice, he had not met an instance of temporary insanity. He replied: "Yes, sir; I knew of a man who was insane for twenty-four hours." Scoville, eagerly: "And then he got well?" "No, sir; he died." (Laughter at Scoville's expense.)

In the course of the cross-examination Mr. McDonald was asked by Scoville if he was not discharged for granting a false certificate of health to Wm. M. Tweed when the latter was in confinement in the penitentiary, and he replied: "I never gave Tweed a certificate of health or ill-health, and I was never discharged from any position in my life."

DR. BARKSDALE'S EVIDENCE.

Dr. Randolph Barksdale, Superintendent of the Central Insane Asylum, near Richmond, Va., was examined. He said he had visited the prisoner and had also closely observed him in the court, and from his personal examination and observation, was of the opinion he was sane.

GUITEAU'S OATH.

Guiteau has submitted another address for publication. It is a tiresome repetition of his argument on the question of inspiration, the pressure of the Deity on him to shoot the President and other hogwash to the same purport. He likens himself to Christ and Paul as one who has done his work and left the result with the Almighty Father.

AN ENDLESS CASE.

Corkhill says if the defense intends to summon more experts he can't predict when the end of Guiteau's case will come. The prosecution also has many more experts who will testify. Guiteau is acting the part of a maniac. The Government can close the argument in one day, but the defense will require more.

PLACED IN THE DOCK.

Guiteau has been removed to the prisoner's dock.

THE PRISONER FLEADS.

After Judge Cox had ordered Guiteau to be removed to the prisoner's dock the latter appealed to the Judge in the most insinuating voice, promising to be quiet if allowed to remain with his counsel, but Judge Cox replied: "You will go to the dock because no reliance can be placed in your promises." "Then I move, your honor," said Guiteau, "that the court room be cleared." Passage was made through the crowd and the prisoner was finally seated in the dock. "I ain't afraid," he shouted, "to walk through the streets of Washington. God Almighty will protect me as He has done so." After glancing around his new place he called out: "Oh, I rather like this, your honor. It gives me much better opportunity to see."

RAILROAD PROGRESS.

An Interesting Interview with Superintendent Rogers.

A New Mexican Railway—Completion of the Southern California Road—Where Los Angeles is Benefited.

Last night T. S. Rogers, General Superintendent of the Southern California Railroad Company, arrived in town on a special train. A Times reporter met him at the Cosmopolitan Hotel and asked the following questions:

"Can you give me any information in railroad matters concerning the A. & P. R. R., the A., S. F. & T. R. and the S. C. Railroad?"

"Very little, except that the Mexican Government through its Congress has just granted the S. C. R. R. Company the right to build a line from Cala Basa, a point about sixty miles south of Tucson, to the Pacific Ocean."

"Will this be of any interest to Southern California?"

"Certainly, it will be of the greatest importance in more ways than one. It will open up some of the finest country in Mexico, and will be of great benefit to your city, as well as to San Diego."

"How will it benefit Los Angeles?"

"In the first place, there will soon be connections between Los Angeles and San Diego, which will give you a through line to the Southern and Eastern States over a much more pleasant route than you can now get over the Southern Pacific, and in the second place, there will be competition which must necessarily make freights and fares much lower than they are at present."

"Where will this new line cross the Colorado river?"

"Very near the mouth, I think."

"Who made the application for the franchise?"

"I did."

"Do you think the Southern Pacific will run a line from Yuma down the Gulf to Guaymas, as they have talked of doing?"

"No, I do not think they will ever do so, because there is nothing to pay them for the trouble and expense. The Sonora road can carry on all the business of Guaymas for years to come."

"They have commenced work on the Sonora line again, have they not?"

"Yes; they had some trouble with the Government, but have fixed things and are now hard at work. They are running trains from Guaymas to Hermosillo."

"When will your line reach California?"

"We have graded within fifty miles of that place, and will soon be able to run through trains."

"How about the Atlantic and Pacific? Do you expect to push on and meet them near the Needles?"

"I can't say when the junction will be, but the work will be pushed as rapidly as possible."

"What kind of a country will you open up after you leave San Bernardino?"

"It is well known to a great many that Northern Arizona is a much richer and better section of country than the southern portion, besides it is a well timbered country. This will be of great benefit to Southern California, as you will soon be able to get lumber much cheaper than at present. The route will be much nearer and a great deal more pleasant than any other road."

"Will your line be extended up the coast?"

"Undoubtedly it will, and not very far in the future either."

"How do you and the S. P. stand?"

"We are friendly; on good terms, except, but each company is working for its own interest."

"Mr. Rogers seems to be confident that the S. C. Railroad will be of more than passing benefit to Los Angeles and Southern California in general."

A New Kind of Dessert.

A fight occurred in one of the restaurants on Main street yesterday afternoon. It seems that two young bloods, well known in Los Angeles, after partaking of a good square meal, concluded to have a battle by the way of dessert. The ever watchful proprietor, however, was promptly on hand, and started in to put the belligerents out of the place, and in the melee that followed was hit over the head with a water decanter by one of the parties. The waiters came to the rescue about this time and the fighters were excluded.

Church Social.

Quite a large gathering of people both young and old assembled at the Christian Church on Temple street last night, it being the occasion of a church social for the little ones. Refreshments were served by the ladies during the evening. The affair was under the management of Mr. B. F. Coulter and was a complete success.

Held to Answer.

Robert Brown, the musical thief, who got away with a guitar belonging to Mr. Temple, a few nights ago, was examined by the city criminal judge, and was held to answer before the Superior Court with bonds fixed at $500, this being the second offense of the same nature.

A Case for the Superior Court.

Sir Robert Smith, who appropriated $70 and a gold bracelet the other day, and attempted to dispose of the money and bracelet while on a big Christmas drunk, was before the city criminal court for examination yesterday and was held to answer before the Superior Court.

Kie's Knee Dislocated.

John Kie, a sailor on board of one of the ships at Fajal City, fell down the hold of a vessel and dislocated his knee. He was brought up to Los Angeles yesterday and placed under the care of Dr. Hannan.

Nellie Boyd Troupe.

The Nellie Boyd Troupe will be in town next week. Miss Boyd is next to Maggie Mitchell in ability, and the citizens may expect one of the best dramatic performances they have witnessed for years.

Dr. Edward W. Morley is inclined to the belief that the theory that deficiencies in the amount of oxygen in the air are caused by the descent of air from an elevation fairly well agreed with the facts.

A MINISTER IN LIMBO.

Arrested for Leaving His Horse Untied on the Street.

A police officer, noted for the coldness of his heart, while aquitting around the corner of one of the prominent streets of this city the other day, got his weather eye on a horse and buggy standing in front of a store, and said to himself in a stage whisper, "It looks like that horse is untied, it seems like he is untied, and damned if he ain't untied." And he slammed his left paw on his manly breast three times, braced up and arrested that west American horse for being untied, according to the ordinance made, sectioned and numbered by the almighty council of Los Angeles, strictly prohibiting such conduct and making it a crime punishable by fine and imprisonment in the city hotel for not less than 99 1/2 years.

The officer hopped in and started to deliver the horse and buggy to his chief, but a sad and plaintive voice called, "Stop thief," before the policeman had gone ten steps. The officer, true to police instinct, allowed up thinking there might be another chance to make a haul. The sad voice soon got alongside and made a strong kick against such ungentlemanly action as arresting the horse and buggy.

"Now see here, old man, I know my duty and I propose to take you and this horse to the station, so you just bottle up and jump in."

"I guess probably you don't know who I am, or you wouldn't talk to me in that cruel manner," answered the sad voice.

"Yes, I do, I know just who you are, but I'll take you in if you were running the biggest gospel shop in Ireland."

"Yes, but what will my flock think if their leader gets in limbo?"

"I can't help what they think. You fellows should lead the morals of the city, and if you don't we'll make you," and the faithful officer took the reverend gentleman to the central station and booked him for violating a city ordinance. But the end is not yet. The reverend was conducted before the city criminal judge and tried. The court heard the testimony pro and con, and after giving the reverend a lecture on law let him return to the bosom of his church.

Returning the Compliment.

The Riverside saloons all close up Sundays now, and this fact may explain the presence of that enterprising newspaper man, L. M. Holt, of the Press, in this city over Sunday—Los Angeles Daily Times.

Of course, while in Los Angeles last Monday morning, we called on our old friend, Jesse Yarnell, temperance editor of the Times. He invited us out to "take something," and of course we declined, and hence he tries to get even by publishing the above paragraph.—Riverside Press.

A. O. U. W. Officials.

At a meeting of Southern California Lodge Nodge No. 191, A. O. U. W., held last night before last, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term: M. W. E. H. Grasset; T. J. H. Burks; O. G. A. Townsend; Red; C. A. Baskerville; (re-elected); F. D. Drysdale; (re-elected); Rev. N. Matthews; G. A. B. Chapman; I. W. A. Zuber; O. W. T. R. Petry; Medical Examiner. Dr. H. S. Orme; Member of Board of Trustees, W. B. Abernethy.

The Local Market.

The local markets were quite dull yesterday. Flour was quoted at $5.50 per barrel, jobbing lots, and at from $5.25 to $5.30 per barrel, wholesale. Wheat ranged from $1.40 to $1.75, according to quality. Wool from 10 to 12 cents per pound. Oranges (new crop) sold from $1.50 to $2.50 per box; last year's crop for $3 to $4 per box. The shipments of oranges are very light so far this season.

An Exterminator Exterminated.

A Mexican, O. Seliger, got drunk and started in to clean out all the priests in the city, day before yesterday, in front of the Plaza Church. A large crowd congregated to witness the extermination, but an officer put an end to the battle and yanked the poor fellow. He was tried yesterday in the city criminal court, and got twenty days in the city jail for his little sport.

Installation.

The following officers of Los Angeles Lodge No. 42, F. and A. M., were Tuesday evening installed by Past Master E. W. Edelman, assisted by Brother M. Morris, Marshal; W. M., Samuel C. Foy; S. W., Samuel Prager; J. W., Wm. H. Northcraft; Treasurer, Samuel Meyer; Secretary, E. J. Levy; S. D. James F. Corwin; J. D. Jerry M. Gish; Steward, C. A. Enx and W. G. Goss; Tyler, H. Niedekorn.

Fire Bugs Felled.

An unsuccessful attempt was made last night about 11 o'clock by an incendiary to fire the Chinese washhouse on Aliso street, by throwing a bomb wrapped in a lot of rubbish under the building. The fire was discovered by the Chinamen and put out before any damage was done. This makes the second attempt of the same character to set fire to the laundry.

It never looked bigger to me than at the present time. But I have been experimenting and think I have made quite an improvement on the washer."

"What is the nature of your improvement?"

"If you remember when I saw you last I intended to have the pipe placed in the pot and extending up perpendicular to a hopper. In making my experiments in San Francisco I soon saw that it would not work as rapidly as I had thought, so I got up a blow-pipe, or bellows to blow the sand into the quicksilver. I experimented for some time and finally succeeded in getting a machine that will work the sand as fast as it can be shoveled into the hopper or sieve. The blowing machine will be run by horse power and will force the sand into the quicksilver very rapidly. The sieve and blow machine will be placed on a platform about ten feet from the level of the pot containing the quicksilver, so that the pipe will have a slight incline, just enough to prevent the quicksilver from running out through the pipe. As I told you before, any metal except gold will find the surface as soon as it is placed in quicksilver. Now, the whole secret of this patent (for I have made application) is that as soon as the sand is blown into the quicksilver it will come to the surface, leaving the gold in the quicksilver. As soon as the sand fills up the space between the surface of the quicksilver and the top of the pot it must necessarily flow over the sides of the pot, thus keeping up a continual stream of sand from the sieve to pot and over the sides."

The Colonel here made some drawings, one of which the Times engraver prepared yesterday for the readers of this paper. It conveys a good idea of the workings of the machine.

THE MACHINE.

1—Blow machine.
2—Sieve, or sand box.
3—Pipe.
4—Quicksilver.
5—Pot.

A PATENT APPLIED FOR.

"You say you have applied for a patent. Do you anticipate any trouble in getting it?"

"None whatever; they can't refuse it, because it is practical, and nothing of the kind has ever been patented before."

"What about the old Frenchman, who made the discovery?"

"Oh, I haven't forgotten him; he is one of our partners."

"Colonel, how much dirt do you think you can run through in a day?"

"I have figured on that, and believe that I can run through from twenty to thirty tons."

"What will the sand go for per ton?"

"It will average from $5 to $14."

"Where is your camp situated?"

"About sixty or seventy miles back from Yuma, a few miles back from the Colorado river, near Big Horse Tanks."

The Colonel and his partner, C. T. Norton, seem to feel positive that they have a good thing. If it is as they expect, Arizona will be one of the greatest mining countries in the world, for her desert plains are covered with dry diggings that could not be worked heretofore on account of the scarcity of water.

MILLIONS IN IT.

Smith's Wonderful Machine for Working Dry Diggings.

An Arizona's Happy Discovery—An Apparently Feasible Method of Utilizing Dry Diggings.

The readers of the Times will remember that an article appeared about a week ago in these columns giving an account of the working of a dry gold washing machine invented by an old Frenchman in Arizona.

The interview at the time with Colonel Smith, who saw the machine in operation, brought out such a plain description of the gold saving apparatus that almost any one could with little trouble take up the idea and separate the precious gold from the sands of Arizona. It will be remembered that Col. Smith and party were on their way to San Francisco with the intention of procuring an outfit suitable to carrying on this dry washing on a large scale. They arrived here yesterday on their return to Arizona, and were seen by a representative of the Times at the depot.

The Colonel looked as happy as a fourteen-month-old school boy, and talked quite freely to the Times man.

"Well, what about your fortune-making machine?" asked the news-gatherer.

A WONDERFUL MACHINE.

It never looked bigger to me than at the present time. But I have been experimenting and think I have made quite an improvement on the washer."

"What is the nature of your improvement?"

"If you remember when I saw you last I intended to have the pipe placed in the pot and extending up perpendicular to a hopper.
